DELAY IS SEEN IN IDAHO TAX EXPERT PLANS

Attempt of Majority Party to Cast Joint Resolution Awry; Conflict Sharp.

BOISE, Jan. 22. (AP)—Plans of the majority party to cast a joint resolution to employ Roy Dodge, Seattle tax expert, as consultant for the legislature, went awry today and may result in a delay of a day or two in bringing up the matter.

The delay appeared likely to result in gaining some democratic support for the proposal. With plans all set for introduction of the measure, it was found that a republican senator, William A. Schuldberg, Franklin, was absent. This would have cut the republican majority to one, a margin considered too narrow for safety of the measure.

A sharp conflict over democratic and republican factions developed over methods of handling the measure. The republican caucus voted to ask the legislature to employ Dodge to draw up a bill along the lines presented to the caucus.

The democrats asked for a delay of two or three days to give Governor Ross an opportunity to study the plan. Advised the governor was steadily engaged until Saturday night, the republican leaders objected and decided to pass it with the party's own strength. Senator Callahan (rep., Shoshone) announced publicly the measure would be introduced this morning but with the absence of Senator Schuldberg that became impossible.

Meets With Ross.

Dodge will meet with Governor Ross tonight and in the presence of democratic leaders will go over the plan so the executive can determine his views.

With the Dodge business off its program the senate adjourned but not before Senator Evans (dem., Power) withdrew his bill to set up property qualifications for voters in school district elections.

After withdrawing the bill he said it would be amended to restore to heads of families with children the right to vote in these elections. The withdrawal was permitted only property owners to vote.

Battle Is Near.

Promise of a closely drawn battle over the democratic primary bill developed when it was learned the bill would be reported out of the senate state affairs committee tomorrow. Two republicans are co-authors of the bill virtually assuring it will come out with a favorable report. Republican members opposing it were preparing a minority report recommending it be thrown into the committee of the whole for amendment.

The old age pension bill was withdrawn in the house and another submitted with several clerical 'administrative errors removed.

Two judiciary measures were introduced, one which would fix fees for probate courts in estate cases and the other affecting dismissal and non-suit actions in civil cases.

Plumber License Bill.

Representative Larson introduced a bill calling for licensing of plumbers. Under the bill master plumbers would pay an annual license of $25 and journeymen plumbers $2.

House and senate republicans held a joint caucus to consider further the Dodge plan mix-up, revenue matters and to pass on the party's program. The latter subject was understood to contain the party's recommendation on highways, taxation and institutional building. It was planned to lay it before the governor before it is made public.

NEW YORK STYLE WARNINGS HEARD

NEW YORK, Jan. 22. (AP)—The style warnings of late January indicate women are going to change their present black frame of mind for a brown one when spring comes.

There will be blue days and pastel hours and many colored nights.

Simplicity and individualism by day are spring time essentials.

We have heard almost the last of enservable costume for the street.

There, you have the gist of spring styles as new York is turning them out.

BURKE WILL PLAY TWO GAMES TONIGHT

Mixup in Schedules of Canyon City and St. Maries Is Cause.

As the result of complications in the schedules of Burke and St. Maries basketball teams, the Burke high school squad will be divided into two groups tonight, one quinted playing St. Maries at Burke and the other meeting Kingston high school at Kingston, A. J. Malcolm, Burke coach, announced Thursday night.

The mixup in schedules also involves the Wallace Miners, in that the Red and Black players will meet Harrison at Harrison tonight and must return tomorrow to play St. Maries at Wallace. Officials here had believed the game Saturday was scheduled for the St. Maries court and that the two down-river teams could be played in a single trip.

Coach Mel Ingram of the Miners said Thursday night that the change may result in the cancellation of the Wallace game at St. Maries next week as the pecuniary reimbursements for a single game may not be sufficient to warrant the trip.

The following Burke players will play against the St. Maries team at Burke: MacGuffie and Armstrong, forwards; Schmidt or Bruning, center; Faubert, Moore or O'Rourke, guards. The lineup for the Kingston game is fixed as follows: Murray and Sadler, forwards; Lamb, center; Leary and McLean, guards, with Graff, Bailey and Flannigan, reserves.

Eight players, Coach Ingram and Athletic Manager Bean will make the trip to Harrison. The players included Robinson, Brass, Olson, Towne, Lucas, Thompson, Ruebke and one other not yet selected.

Mullan and Kellogg will clash at Kellogg Friday night in one of the headliners of the week's conference roster of games.

SAYS MODIFICATION OF SPUD LAW SEEN

Senator Wiley Claims 15,000 Carloads Could be Moved.

BOISE, Jan. 22. (AP)—H. K. Wiley, senator from Bingham, predicted in an interview today that modification of the present potato grading and branding regulations to permit shipment "to a commercial grade" would speedily remove the 15,000 carloads in the state from the 1930 crop.

Passage of the bill now before the senate providing for shipment of ungraded potatoes in unbranded bags would open an entirely new market for Idaho potatoes, he said. At present Chicago is the principal market, but commercial grade, he said, would permit the state to compete in the Texas and Oklahoma markets. In that section, he said, there is steady demand for a pack of potatoes in which all sizes may be found.

He doubts, he said, if Idaho was receiving any premium on its potatoes and if it were the difference was not enough to justify the additional cost of grading and branding.

GANGSTER DIES BY POLICE FIRE

DETROIT, Jan. 22. (AP)—Frank "Whitey" Craft, member of the notorious Paul Jaworski holdup gang who robbed the Detroit News building in June, 1928, and killed Sergeant George Barstad, died at the hands of two Detroit policemen today.

Patrolmen Edward L. Nowacki and Glen Chilpeck, off duty, were driving through a suburb. Nowacki recognized Craft in a car which stopped behind them. He had orders to kill Craft on sight and alighted from his automobile.

Craft opened fire at the uniform and died under the fire of the two officers. His companion, John Micauda, cut by glass but otherwise uninjured, was held.

REPORT NAMED "LIKKERSHAM"

CHICAGO, Jan. 22. (AP)—Renaming the Wickersham report the "likkersham review" Mrs. Carol Miller, Pittsburgh, Pa., declared it represented two years wasted time. Bitterly criticizing it before members of the ways and means committee of the Crusaders association, she said there wasn't enough new facts in the report to make it worth while.

"Any intelligent person could have written it on the spur of the moment two years ago," she said.

(AP)—Gus Sonnenberg, former claimant of the heavyweight wrestling title, won a victory over Lee Wykoff of St. Louis, here tonight when the latter was injured in a fall from the ring while attempting to administer a flying tackle. MEXICAN SEEKS SILVER SOLUTION

NEW YORK, Jan. 22. (AP)—In searching for some plan to solve the unsettled world silver market, particularly in Mexico, Don Rafael Manera, sub secretary of the Mexican treasury, has been conferring in Wall street with several prominent bankers, it was learned today.

"Nothing has been agreed to," he said, "and the financiers have not before them any concrete proposal from me."

In his talks with economists here the Mexican official said he shared their views that a possible solution would be the extension of a large silver loan to China where the Mexican peso is steadily declining.

BELIEVE PRIMARY CLASH IN OFFING

Favorable Report Expected on Bill, However; Is Wanted.

BOISE, Jan. 22. (AP)—Prospects that an open clash between adherents of the primary and convention systems would break out on the senate floor appeared tonight with the promise from the state affairs committee it would report out the direct primary bill.

A favorable report on the bill is expected in view of the presence on the committee of a majority in favor of the measure, for besides democrats there are two republicans on the committee who are co-authors of the bill.

The senate is expected to open on the motion with Senator John Robertson (rep., Wash.) and chairman of the committee, carrying the brunt of the battle against the measure and Senators Freehafer, (Dem., Payette) and Holden, republican, supporting the bill.

Holden, one of the authors recently gave out a statement describing it as the bill wanted by his constituents.

In the committee are Senators Robertson, Baker, Nelson, Callahan, Holden, Richmond, republicans; Tetzbone, Freehafer, Vanhousen, Evans, Messan, democrats. Of the republicans, Baker and Holden signed the measure.

The vote on the resolution approving the special service was 197 to 3.

It followed on a discussion on Christian Science and modern medicine.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22. (AP)—United States District Attorney George Hatfield, said today a man can make wine and keep it in his home legally regardless of its alcoholic content provided it is used only by the family and bona fide guests.

JURY FAILS TO AGREE IN DEBOE LARCENY TRIAL

No Verdict Returned After 27 Hours Deliberation; Daisy Says She Feels Better.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 22. (AP)—The jury deliberating the fate of Daisy DeBoe returned to the courtroom of Superior Judge William Doran late today but the fireworks in the form of a verdict for which the crowd had waited patiently for 27 hours was only a fizzle.

Ralph Boyton, foreman, told the court the jurors were unable to agree. They went back for further deliberation. An hour later the court called them back.

This time Boyton predicted to the judge that a verdict would not be possible. Each juror expressed this view. One told the court there was confusion in the instructions over the word "permanent" in relation to the misappropriation of the property of an employer by his servant.

The court sent the jurors out to dinner telling them he would reply to their questions on their return.

"Isn't it grand," Miss DeBoe said afterwards. "I think they disagreed. No, I'm not very nervous but I'll sleep better tonight. Ask Alfred (Alfred Mathes, her sweetheart) about his nervousness. He's worse than I. I haven't lost much weight but he's lost a lot."

OFFICIALS APPEAL FOR RED CROSS WORK

Plea to American People Broadcast From New York Yesterday.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22. (AP)—An appeal to the American people to donate $10,000,000 to the Red Cross for relief of the drought sufferers was broadcast over a nation-wide network tonight by the NBC and the voice of President Hoover led all the rest.

The president, as head of the Red Cross, and Judge John Barton Payne, its chairman, spoke from Washington.

At North Hampton, Mass., former President Calvin Coolidge joined in and in New York, Former Governor Alfred E. Smith. Mary Pickford and Mrs. August Belmont urged prompt contributions.

Will Rogers spoke from Little Rock, Ark.

"Give what you can afford and give now," was the burden of the appeal.

"It is unthinkable any of our people should be allowed to suffer. The heart of the nation will not permit it," Mr. Hoover said.

Coolidge reminded the public there is scarcely a nation that has not benefited by American generosity and that now "it cannot be that the appeal of the Red Cross for money to relieve home misery will fail to meet the necessary responses."

Former Governor Smith said that disaster in one section of the country is the concern of all and that "the American people must stand behind the Red Cross."

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 22. (AP)—A peace bond was sought unsuccessfully today by Mrs. Alma Endacott, charged with attempted murder for the shooting yesterday of a co-ed whom she accused of "breaking up" the Endacott home.

Lester Frair, Tulsa, brother-in-law of the wounded co-ed, Miss Charlcie Caudell, asked the peace bond. W. C. Henneberry, assistant county attorney, refused Frair's request, explaining Mrs. Endacott already was under $2500 appearance bond.

PROHIBITION GRIPS HOUSE AND SENATE

Many Disputes; Wet Bloc Gains Little in Attempts for Advance

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22. (AP)—Prohibition gripped the house in all disputes today and toward night raised its head in the senate as well.

The house wet bloc joined in a free for all assault on appropriations for enforcing the dry laws through the next fiscal year. They gained only the elimination of a point of order of a $50,000 item for education, however.

Late in the day Senator Tydings (dem., Md.) made an unsuccessful attempt to eliminate funds for increasing the personnel of the prohibition bureau from the appropriation bill.

Meanwhile house leaders decided to send the senate $25,000,000 appropriation for Red Cross drought relief to committee for hearing.

Senator Walsh (dem., Mont.) brought up a dispute over the nomination of Chairman Smith and Commissioners Garsaud and Draper of the power commission which the senate voted to reconsider and the president refused to return.

Walsh asked that they be referred to a committee and said if such action was approved he would introduce a resolution asking the district attorney to bring action determining their status.

SAYS HOOVER ENDANGERS HIS REELECTION

President's Recommendation on Wickersham Report Assailed by Representative Beck.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22. (AP)—Representative Beck of Pennsylvania said tonight President Hoover had "imperiled the chances of his reelection" by his recommendation on the Wickersham prohibition report.

Beck, a former assistant attorney general, issued a statement saying he had advised President Hoover against a declaration of belief in the 18th amendment during the 1928 campaign.

"That he should now quite unnecessarily reaffirm that declaration is disheartening to me," he said.

"By his uncompromising declaration the president may not have injured his prospects for a renomination but he has imperiled the chances of his reelection."

In an analysis of the report Beck concluded that it "has substantially advanced the day of our emancipation."

Says Door Not Closed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22. (AP)—President Hoover's emphatic disapproval of the Wickersham commission's proposed revision of the 18th amendment was held today by Senator Fess (Rep., Ohio) not to have closed the White House door to all suggestions for revision.

The chairman of the republican national committee stated carefully, however, he did not mean to imply the president had any particular revision or modification in mind.

Says Message Dry.

Republican Leader Watson said: "I interpret his message as dry," but added he had not talked with President Hoover about prohibition since the variously interpreted message was given to congress along with the law enforcement commission's diverging views.

While these statements were made, enough of the story behind the conflicting report was disclosed to indicate the prolonged dispute and controversy that ended in the writing of this document.

It did not disclose, however, any real evidence President Hoover had helped fashion its recommendation or that it had been changed. These reports twice had been denied by the commission.

Copper, Lead and Zinc Output Less

Lead Shows Decrease of 16 Per Cent from 1929; Zinc Output Is 17 Per Cent Less, Report Says.

Figures showing the smelter and refinery output of copper, lead and zinc in the United States in 1930 were issued recently by the United States bureau of mines, department of commerce. No attempt was made to separate production according to the states in which the metals were mined.

The smelter production of copper from domestic ores in 1930 was 687,000 short tons and the refinery production of new copper from domestic and foreign sources was 1,115,000 tons. The output of primary refined lead from domestic sources in 1930 was 569,000 short tons and from domestic and foreign sources 641,000 tons. The smelter output of primary zinc from domestic ores in 1930 was 491,000 short tons and from domestic and foreign ores, 499,000 tons.

22 Per Cent Less.

The output of recoverable copper by the mines in the United States in 1930 was about 682,600 short tons, or about 22 per cent less than the output of 997,351 tons in 1929, according to the bureau of mines' figures. All of the copper-producing states showed important decreases in production in 1930, with the exception of Colorado, North Carolina and Wyoming, which increased output. The production of Wyoming, however, is negligible.

Decreases in the important states ranged from 11 per cent in Michigan to 44 per cent in Utah. As usual Arizona showed the largest production. Its output decreased from 415,000 tons in 1929 to 282,300 tons in 1930, the largest decrease in tonnage for any state. Montana was second in importance with a production of 99,100 tons, a decrease of approximately one-third from the 148,863 tons produced in 1929. Utah, which held second place in 1929, produced 59,100 tons and Michigan, 53,000 tons.

The recoverable lead contained in ore mined in the United States in 1930, exclusive of Virginia and New York, was about 541,350 short tons, a decrease of 16 per cent from the output of 647,993 tons in 1929, according to the bureau of mines' figures. The largest production was from the southeastern Missouri district where 196,870 tons was produced in 1930, a slight decrease from the 197,435 tons produced in 1929. Idaho was next in importance with a production of 133,100 tons, compared with 148,695 tons in 1929, and Utah was third with 111,000 tons, compared with 149,377 tons in the preceding year. Nevada was the only important leadproducing state to show increased output in 1930. Production of lead in the tri-State district in 1930 was less than one-half of the tonnage obtained in 1929.

The price of lead concentrates at Joplin was $75 a ton for the last eight weeks of 1929 and the first nine weeks of 1930. The price tended downward, with minor fluctuations, until the middle of the year when it had dropped to $60 a ton. Quotations increased to $65 a ton for the week ending August 2 and held there for nine weeks. There was a drop to $57.50 a ton, the low for the year, for the week ending October 11 which price held throughout the remainder of the year. The high weekly average for 1930 was $105 a ton in March and the low was $75 a ton during the last weeks of the year.

Zinc Production Less.

The recoverable zinc contained in ore mined in the United States in 1930 was about 600,910 tons, as compared with 724,483 tons in 1929, a decrease of 17 per cent, according to bureau of mines' figures. Among the important zinc-producing regions, Montana showed the largest proportion of decrease. Production in Montana dropped to only a little more than one-half of the output in 1929, of all producing areas the tri-State district recorded the largest tonnage decrease and the second largest proportionate decrease. In this district the output in 1930 was only approximately two-thirds of the production in 1929. The eastern states registered an increase of 9 per cent in output, although production in New Jersey, the principal state, decreased. The increase was due to a larger production in New York, Tennessee and Virginia. In comparison with 1929 production in Colorado increased 24 per cent and in Nevada 77 per cent, although decreases were shown in all of the other western states.

The price of zinc concentrates at Joplin was $35 a ton at the end of 1929 and the beginning of 1930. The high for the year was $37 a ton in February and March. During the last week in March the price dropped to $35, followed by successive declines which brought it to $29 a ton during the last two weeks in June and the first two weeks in July. The price rose to $32 a ton in August and from then on with the exception of one week in September, the trend was continuously downward. During the last two weeks of the year the quotation was $26 a ton, the lowest for the year, the high weekly averages for 1929 week ending March 30 until the week ending October 26, and the low was $25 a ton recorded during the last two weeks of the year.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22. (AP)—Stocks kept bonds company in a rather decisive advance today. Short covering, particularly in the last hour, sent prices up one to two points or more and the market closed strong showing the best activity of the year, during the last hour rally. Sales of 1,860,740 shares were about 450,000 larger than yesterday.

Continued strength of the rails from the opening made the shorts uneasy and bear lines were pulled aboard in all directions. One of George F. Baker's rare public comments to the effect that the federal bankers saw "slight indications of a return of good business on sound lines" was received attentively by a market hungry for expression of opinions from those in high financial places, but there was nothing in the business news to influence the trend. Suspension of a member firm passed unnoticed.
